

An update of neutron star astrophysics 2022

J.E. Horvath
(IAG-USP)

We address in this talk the latest news about neutron stars. The mass distribution of the whole population, structural constraints and consequences for dense matter physics among them. The contribution from GW observations is emphasized.